HOUSE REJECTED

Little Hope Now of Fee Reform Legislation at Hands of Present Session.

LONG DEBATE AND WRANGLE

Louisa Member Fails to Discharge Finance Committee From Further Consideration.

The prospect for fee reform legislation in the remaining twelve days of this session is becoming exceedingly remote, notwithstanding campaign pledges, and the protestations of many members on the floor. Mr. Gordon, of Louisa, yesterday moved again to discharge the House Finance Committee from further consideration of his fee bill, in order that it might be placed bill, in order that it might be placed on the House calendar, and after an hour's debate the motion was rejected, 47 to 37. Mr. Gordon explained that his bill, when first introduced, had been referred to the Committee for Courts of Justice, since it referred to the fees of court clerks, sheriffs and other court officers. It was reported favorably, and took its place on the House calendar as House bill No. 131.

Reported an Amended Bill.

Reported an Amended Bill. Reported an Amended Bill.

Later a motion was made to refer it to the Finance Committee, and it was so referred. Meanwhile, the Finance Committee has reported in amended form what has been described as a "denatured" and entirely harmless bill, introduced by Colynel Brower, of Suffolk, but modified by committee anendments.

"The Brower till as amended is on

The Brower bill, as amended, is on the House calendar as House bill No. 171, and it is regarded as improbable that it will be reached in time for final action during the remaining twelve days. Mr. Gordon said that all he wanted was a fair field and no favors. He would not object to the committee reporting his bill adversely, but he did object to having it smothered in committee in such a way as to give the House an opportunity to dodge voting on it.

The Brewer bill, he went on, allowed $6,500 a year in fees with an unlimited allowance for deputies and expenses. A fee officer under it could have all of his work done for him by paid deputies, and draw his $6,500 for doing nothing. It would enable him to employ deputies for electioneering purposes, and would give to men who did nothing to earn it higher salaries than the State paid to the Governor or judges of the Court of Appeals.

or judges of the Court of Appeals.

Weaver Defends Measure.
Chairman Weaver launched into an extended defense of the Finance Committee, and was getting on well with II, when Mr. Myers asked: "Is it the duty of the Finance Committee to protect the officeholders or the taxpayers?" Mr. Weaver said that was a "claptrap" argument that he would not attempt to answer. Mr. Woodward, of Norfolk, wanted to know why the of Norfolk, wanted to know why the chairman of the Finance Committee so strenuously objected to the House vot-tieg on one of its own bills. Mr. Weaver answered that he was fighting protect the calendar from a glut of bills.

Mr. Chalkley asked as a point of parliamentary inquiry whether if the committee were discharged, the bill would take its numerical place on the calendar as No. 191, given it when first reported, or whether it would go at the bottom of the calendar. The chair bottom of the calendar. The chair ruled that it would take its numerical place, and so would be reached nearly 100 bills ahead of the Brewer bill. Mr. Oliver spoke vehemently against the discharge of the committee, and after an hour of debate, when there was pending a storm of motions and protests. Mr. Baker moved the previous question. He withdrew it to allow the chair to recognize Colonel ow the chair to recognize Colonel Brewer, patron of the only fee bill on the calendar—No. 271.

Colonel Brewer said that that bill as amended was not what he wanted, but that under present conditions it was the only bill that could become a law before this Legislature. He called the attention of the House to the fact that in former sessions he was the Orst member to introduce a bill re-

Speaking for the Appropriations Committee, Judge Williams repeated the warning Chairman Brewer gave on the previous day. The committee (Affidavit) MARY KORHAMER.

MARY KORHAMER. on the previous day. The committee has abandoned all hope of reducing taxes, and reported an appropriation bill carrying for two years about $15.-000,000, which on the closest calculations of probable income made by Chairman Brewer and Auditor Moore, will leave the State a surplus of only $13,000 at the end of the two years. It making the regular election judges the judges of primary elections. The bill provides a separate set of judges for primaries, to be appointed by the electoral boseds. toral boards. Against Mixed Judges.

A number of amendments have been offered by Messrs. Chalkley, Radford, Pennington, Spatig. Lowry, Oliver. Heffin, Johnson, Stubbs and others. All of these have been printed, and while exact data as to the probable effect is not available, Auditor of Public Accounts C. Lee Moore has reported to the House that to carry out the further extensions contemplated ir the Lowry amendments would make the state of the state of this case:

Against Mixed Judges.

Senator itisen, of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, opposed the Gravatt amendment. It would have the effect, he said, of placing a board of three judges, one of whom, under the law, will be a Republican, in charge of primary elections whether they be Democratic or Republican primartes of this case:

Lowry amendments have been if you have Lung Trouble, do not be missing the discoveries of specifics to relieve that affection. No specific has as yet been found. Eckman's Alterative, however, is a medicine for throat and tung the first through the many cases. If you are sick, it might be wise for you to investigate its merits and its use may be of lasting benefit to you. Read the Committee on Privileges and Elections, opposed the Gravatt amendment. It would have the effect, the said, of placing a board of three judges, one of whom, under the law, will be a Republican, primartee.

Democratic or Republican primartee. The will be a proposed to privileges and Elections, of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, of the Committee of Privileges and Elections, of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, of the Committee of Privileges and Elections, of the Democratic or Republican primaries, it would be highly objectionable, the thought, to have a Republican judge connected in any way with a Democra-tic primary or vice versa.

Senator Catron, of Wise, one of the Republican members, sought to remove what he regarded as a discrimination against his party in the bill, by an amendment which would give the minority party represented on the elec-toral boards. If the amendment were necepted, he said, he would support the bill. Senator Sowder, another member of the minority, could see no good to cliner party in bi-partisan boards of judges. He offered an amendment providing for separate primary officials for each party, even when both parties hold their primary on the same day The plan was supported by Gravatt, who thought it was sound in principle, but might be open to objection on account of the expense involved.
